

To avoid York's busy and congested city centre, visitors are advised to approach the Mount School via either the A1036 (from the south) or the A59 (from the north-west). Both roads can be reached easily from the encircling by-passes (A1237 and A64) as shown on the accompanying map.

If travelling by the A1036, leave the racecourse on the right and turn left into Dalton Terrace at the traffic-lights at the top of the rise. To reach the Visitors' Car Park, enter Driffield Terrace (first turning on the left) and turn right at the end of it.

If travelling by the A59, from the roundabout on the outer bypass (A1237) follow the signs to the City Centre. After crossing the steel-arched railway bridge, turn right into Dalton Terrace and, after passing the front of the School, right again into Driffield Terrace.
